From Sulu to the World: SSC Students Celebrate WURI 2025 Milestone

By Fatima Saquena Isnijul

On an ordinary day in the classrooms of Sulu State College (SSC), students open their notebooks, recite lessons, and chase deadlines. But this year, something extraordinary has placed them—and their beloved institution—onto the world map.

For the first time in its history, SSC has been recognized in the 2025 World University Rankings for Innovation (WURI), securing a spot in the Top 400 Innovative Universities worldwide. It is a feat that students say they will carry with pride for the rest of their lives.
"I never thought our college would be part of an international ranking," shared Ms. Jalmaani, a third-year Education student. "Knowing that we're now recognized globally inspires me to study harder and to dream bigger."

Among 1,253 universities from 87 countries, SSC emerged 338th in the Innovative Universities category. Beyond that, the school earned impressive distinctions: Top 28 in Empowerment-Based Management, Top 70 in Culture and Values, and Top 79 in Visionary Leadership. For many students, these numbers are more than statistics—they are proof that the small classrooms they occupy every day are part of something far greater.

"This is not just the college's achievement, but also ours as students," said by Ms. Kasim, a 3rd year Criminology student. "We are part of a community that the world now recognizes as innovative and visionary. That makes me proud to say I am from SSC."

Unlike traditional university rankings that focus on research prestige and wealth, WURI highlights institutions that create real impact in society. It looks at how schools empower communities, uphold culture and values, and prepare students to become leaders of change. For SSC students, this recognition feels deeply personal. Many come from humble beginnings, and the college has long been a symbol of hope for families in Sulu.

"We've always believed in the quality of education here," said by the Nursing student, Mr. Isnijul. "Now the world believes in us too."
As the news spread across campus, SSC students celebrated not just the award but the journey it represents. What was once a dream whispered quietly in the hearts of SSCians has now been declared to the world: Sulu State College is no longer just a local institution—it is a global one.

And for its students, this milestone is not an ending but a beginning. "Being recognized globally means we must also rise globally," a graduating student reflected. "It's a challenge for us to live up to the name SSC has now carved on the international stage. We will carry that name with pride."

From Sulu to the world, SSC students stand tall—proof that greatness can rise from even the most unexpected corners.

Dream Realized: Sulu State College's Journey to Becoming a University

By Fatima Saquena Isnijul

History unfolded on June 3, 2025, as the Senate gave its final nod to a bill that will forever changethe educational landscape of our beloved province. With 27 affirmative votes in the Senate, House Bill No. 9334—the measure converting Sulu State College (SSC) into Sulu State University (SSU)—was approved with resounding unanimity.

Inside the Senate hall that day, a quiet but powerful story was written. Among those seated were theleaders of SSC, led by College President, Prof. Charisma S. Ututalum, CESE. Her presence was morethan symbolic; it was a testimony of decades-long struggle, perseverance, and vision for a Sulu whereyoung people could rise through education.

For many, this victory is more than just a name change. It is the embodiment of hope forthousands of students and families who, for years, have dreamed of a university within reach—aninstitution that does not only provide education, but one that carries the pride and identity of Sulu.

The bill, formally titled "An Act Converting the Sulu State College in the Municipality of Jolo,Province of Sulu, into a State University to be Known as the Sulu State University and AppropriatingFunds Therefor", is more than legislation. It is a promise. A promise of wider doors to quality andaffordable education, of opportunities that will no longer require our youth to leave their homeland, andof a brighter future where Sulu takes its rightful place in the nation's academic landscape.

This triumph was made possible through the steadfast support of leaders who believed in the vision—Senator Alan Peter Cayetano, Congressman Samier Tan, and other honorable lawmakers whose votescarried with them the aspirations of our people. But beyond politics, this victory carries the heartbeat ofSulu: parents who have worked tirelessly to send their children to school, students who walked milesunder the scorching sun just to attend classes, and educators who poured their lives into shaping mindsdespite limited resources.

At the heart of it all stands Prof. Charisma Samparani Ututalum, CESE, whose leadership turned this long-awaited dream into reality. Her name will forever be etched in this historic chapter—not just as apresident of an institution, but as a leader who dared to believe that Sulu deserves better.

The approval of the SSC conversion into SSU is not merely an institutional milestone—It is a collective victory that cements the role of education as the foundation of Sulu's progress. It signifies theinstitution's readiness to embrace greater responsibilities, to expand its academic horizons, and to standas a symbol of pride for the province and its people.

Sulu State University is not just a university in name. It is a symbol of how far we have come, and areminder of how much more we can achieve together.

SSC Launches Mobile Laboratory for Convenient Enrollment Medical Services

By Fatima Saquena Isnijul

The Sulu State College (SSC), through the Office of Student Affairs and Services (OSAS) and its Infirmary Office, officially launched the SSC Mobile Laboratory on July 21, 2025, and ran it until July 30, 2025, to provide accessible, fast, and affordable medical services for students during the enrollment period.

As part of the enrollment requirements, students are mandated to undergo medical laboratory tests. In previous years, many Stalwarts had to visit outside health units and pay additional fees just to secure their medical results.

To ease this burden, SSC now offers its own on-campus medical laboratory, ensuring that students no longer need to worry about extra expenses or the hassle of going off-campus.

The Mobile Laboratory aimed to provide a fast and convenient experience to the Stalwarts, making the enrollment process smoother and more student-friendly.

By bringing these essential health services closer, SSC demonstrated its commitment to prioritizing the welfare and needs of its students.

Students were required to pre-register before availing of the services, either through the official registration link or by scanning the QR code provided in the announcement.

Through this initiative, SSC reinforced its vision of creating an environment where student services are not only affordable but also accessible, reliable, and responsive to the needs of every Stalwart.

Journalism in the context of student work helps in the development and growth of responsibility, critical thinking, and constructive engagement

Message of the Sulu State College President

At Sulu State College we have a long history of utilizing the Sihnag Publication for student expression and campus information in a meaningful way. This newsletter serves to keep this institution from losing pace, and to reflect students across a long list of articles to contribute to more informed discussion within the academic community.

Journalism in the context of student work helps in the development and growth of responsibility, critical thinking, and constructive engagement. Sihnag represents these values by creating content that is transparent, accurate, and promotes meaningful participation in college life. It would be a debt of distinction to not have the editorial board, staff and adviser continue to work hard to sustain the publication.

Your commitment, discipline and reverence for the guidelines of responsible campus journalism, is clear in your work. With the College continually moving forward in relation to institutional ambitions, may the Sihnag Newsletter also continue to be an authentic and timely voice – one that fosters understanding, stimulates conversation and provides a sense of shared purpose for community living.

My appreciation and best wishes to the Sihnag Publication for continuing a service at Sulu State College.
